SAILORS SET UPON BY DOVER TOUCHS

James Mayfield of the
U. S. S. Washington
Severely Injured

James Mayfield, a seaman from the U. S. S. Washington now at this navy yard, was severely injured about the face, and John Ekins, also of the cruiser's crew, was less seriously hurt as the result of being set upon by a gang of Dover toughs about 12.30 Sunday morning. It is alleged at the junction of Central avenue and Sixth street. Later in the day Frank J. McDonald, John Bennett, Edward Dionne, Joseph Loryn and George Davidson, whose ages range from 18 to 21, were arrested on charges of assaulting Mayfield and Ekins and were locked up to await a hearing in the police court this morning. It is alleged that all the participants were at Central Park, a summer resort 12 1-2 miles out of the city, last evening, and that the sailors had some words with the local young men. The sailors missed the last car to Dover and walked down, and it is alleged the others waylaid them.

SENATOR LORIMER WILL WORK FOR A VINDICATION

Bears Up Well Under Shock Attending Expulsion From Senate

Washington, July 14.—William Lorimer declared this evening that he had formulated no plans for the future. He will consult with his political and business friends before indicating the next step in his career. It is certain, as announced on the floor of the Senate, that he will steadily work henceforth for vindication. He will spread the record of his two investigations and hearings to convince the people that he has been misjudged and wronged. He will also endeavor to secure conclusive evidence of his innocence. Officially it will hereafter be ex-Congressman Lorimer and not ex-Senator Lorimer. According to the verdict of the Senate he has never been a member of that body and consequently cannot be regarded as an ex-senator. When asked for a statement as to his plans Mr. Lorimer said he had to talk things over with his friends before he could say whether he would go into a fight for political vindication. He first plans on getting back his strength to give attention to his business. He will also talk over with Judge Haney the question of bringing legal action against some of his enemies. Lorimer is hearing up well after the great strain to which he was subjected. He saw the expulsion coming and it was not a surprise to him, though he and his friends were vexed at the smallness of the vote in his favor. He will leave for Chicago in a day or two and go to his farm, about 60 miles out of Chicago for recuperation. "The opinion was freely expressed on every hand today that Lorimer would still be a political force in Chicago and Illinois and would be sent back to the House, probably, two years hence.

THIEVES MAKE A HAUL AT ASEY'S HOUSE

Family Was in House While Robbery Was Pulled Off

Early Saturday evening the residence of Charles Asay on Water street was entered and a variety of articles taken, including silver, cut glass, table cloths, shirt waists, dresses, all to the value of $100. Entrance was made by a window in the rear of the house by cutting away a large copper wire screen. The articles were all passed out of the windows. The police got a tip that the job was done by a half dozen sailors, and today arrested David Coveney, Frank Pawcett and John Dressler, who, it is alleged are connected with the robbery. They deny every knowledge of the same, but the police refuse to release them. The name of the others are known and it is expected they will be arrested today.

DOUBLE DISAPPEARANCE IS PUZZLING EXETERITES

Friends of Missing Parties Loth to Connect Their Disappearance

The strange case of a double disappearance and two families distracted by their desertion is still puzzling the people of Exeter. People cannot make themselves believe that Walter C. Cleveland, who has run away with Mrs. Le Burton C. Ciley, leaving a wife and a little girl, and she leaving a husband and two small children. Cleveland was so well known and liked in Exeter and has such a splendid record that his friends are willing to believe almost any other reason for his disappearance. Mrs. Ciley is also generally liked. Hint at Family Quarrel Last Tuesday afternoon, the neighbors say, Mr. and Mrs. Ciley had a family quarrel, following which Mr. Ciley took the children to his relations in Kingston Plains, leaving his wife at home. On the same afternoon Mr. Cleveland took his wife and daughter to Haverhill to visit some of her relatives. She was to stay all night with them. The next day it was discovered that both Mr. Cleveland and Mrs. Ciley had disappeared. The two families lived together in the same house, the Cileys occupying the lower floor and the Clevlands the upper floor. No one had

BOARD OF TRADE MAY HAVE TALK FROM WINTHROP

Assistant Secretary of Navy Will Speak Here

It is expected at a later date, that assistant secretary of the navy Beekman Winthrop will come to this city to attend a banquet of the Portsmouth Board of Trade and Merchants' Exchange, and address the board and their guests on that occasion. The vice-president of the Board of Trade, Col. H. Clinton Taylor, a classmate of the assistant secretary, has recently been in Washington and through his efforts, Mr. Winthrop promises to visit Portsmouth as a guest of the Board of Trade. The illness of Secretary Meyer has prevented Assistant Secretary Winthrop from coming at an earlier date.

RAILROAD NOTES

A storehouse containing oil and other supplies was burned early on Saturday morning at Rochester. Sparks from a passing locomotive was the cause of the blaze. The Portsmouth wrecking crew of the Boston & Maine were called to Mt. Whites on Sunday night to clean up a freight wreck at that station. The locomotive of the 819 a. m. train, Southville to Boston, was taken off at this station this morning owing to lucky lines and another engine substituted. Boiler inspectors from the Insurance Company were here today inspecting the stationary boilers of the Boston & Maine railroad. William Lydgate, a former supervisor in the bridge and building department of the Boston & Maine, has opened his summer cottage at Elletts. Miss Hannah Burke and Miss Hannah Daley of the Ladies Auxiliary, A. O. U. L., left on Saturday for Chicago as delegates to the National Convention in that city. Weather decidedly close and sticky.

TERRY MARTIN IN LIMBO IN THIS CITY

Failed to Give Bond in Civil Suit

Terry Martin, the well known prize ring artist, is confined at the Portsmouth Jail. Martin was brought here one day last week by Deputy Sheriff Tom Donnelly of Hillsboro county, following his arrest at Manchester.

Martin is charged with an assault on Mrs. Patrick Jago at Auburn on May 14. She brought a civil suit for $1000 and Martin, failing to give a bond, was placed under arrest at Manchester. He recently conducted a boxing match in that city and the authorities, thinking that he would make enough to settle the suit in some way, made no arrest until the exhibition was over. The bout financially was not a success and as Martin could make no settlement with the attorneys representing Mrs. Jago, his arrest followed and he was turned over to the authorities of Rockingham county. Martin is a fast man in the ring and up to the time of this trouble has had a good record.

"LOAN SHARKS" BOOMED

New York Money Lenders To Close Their Shops, Owing to Law.

NEW YORK, July 14.—After many years of agitation the efforts of the Russell Sage Foundation and other New York charitable societies to put the "loan shark" money lenders out of business have apparently been crowned with success. A law passed by the last legislature has been sustained by the courts, and the money lenders after a formal meeting, to discuss the situation, have agreed to close out all their loans at the legal rate of interest and shut up shop. The consensus of opinion at the money lenders' meeting was that the business was dead and that it did not want to be forever in the toils of the law to give up. Desperate efforts were made by the fifty-four different companies represented to collect their outstanding loans at the old rates before quitting. Arrests came in such rapid succession, however, that the efforts at collection were quickly suspended. The only defensive move made by the loan men was the appointment of a meeting to confer with the agents of the Russell Sage Foundation and assure them that they would favor any bill to be introduced into the next legislature fixing a fair rate of interest.

ELIOT

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Merrow passed Sunday as the guests of her sister, Mrs. G. S. Ramsburg and family of Somersworth. Mr. Washburne and family of Boston are guests at the Long Beach cottage for the season. Arthur Davis was operated on at the Portsmouth Hospital yesterday and is reported as getting along comfortably. H. H. Foss was a visitor in York yesterday. The food sale held by the Advent Ladies' Circle Friday afternoon was a great success, everything being disposed of in a half hour's time. The proceeds amounted to about $2. Fred Pickering of Beverly, Mass., was the guest of relatives here Sunday. Old Home week preparations are going merrily on. The rains have revived the gardens and interfered with hayting. Lawrence Staples of the Haddon Dental school is acting as bellboy at a Gloucester hotel. Miss Hamilton, who passed a few days' vacation in town, has returned to her home in New York. Mrs. Charles McPhail of Medford, Mass., was the week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Dixon. Mrs. Magee and daughter Harriet have arrived in town and will occupy the Prime house. Charles Ives is the guest of his mother for the summer. Operator Fogg of Saco has been appointed station agent at Eliot. Deputy Former Agent H. M. Hines has been transferred to Spheny's switch. Mrs. Cyrus Hooper fell and broke her hip recently. Professor Kinney and family have arrived at Green Acre for the summer.

BEEES MAKING TROUBLE

Get in Connection Box and Delay Train Service.

For the second time within two weeks bees have swarmed in one of the connection boxes of the automatic block signals on the Portland division of the Boston & Maine railroad between Spiney's switch and Jewett station and have disarranged the signals, making more trouble for trains between these points. Electrician O'Connor after a lot of hard work succeeded in getting out the king bee with the rest and getting the signals back in order. The box car where the insects gathered, contains very fine wires and the honey made by the bees, started the same and upset the block, throwing the arms at a cautionary position.

STORE HOUSE BURNED AT CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

Marines and sailors from the warships Virginius, Des Moines, Illinois and Salem helped put out a fire in storehouse 63 at the Charlestown Navy Yard Saturday afternoon. The fire began just before 3 o'clock. Summoned by the fire whistle in the yard, the men were ordered to the scene. Two city alarms were sent from different boxes.

The building is 2 1-2 stories, of wood. In a few minutes a large part of the roof burned away and a great cloud of black smoke obscured the house from view.

In the stable and wagon house near the storehouse were 25 horses, and two automobile trucks. The first thing the marines and sailors did was to get the horses and trucks out.

Just as this was accomplished the fire apparatus arrived and the naval men helped couple the hose. A dozen streams of water were soon pouring into the building. Fire Boat 31 was one of the first pieces of apparatus on hand and its streams, aimed at once out down the sheet of flame. In an hour the blaze was put out.

Chief John A. Mullen had a good word to say for the sailors and marines. Although he did not believe the stable was in danger unless by a sudden change of wind, he said it was a good piece of work to get the horses out for fear of a panic among them.

The building was used to store iron rods, parts of engines and bolts. Chief Mullen thought the fire was caused by crossed wires. He estimated the loss at $4000. It is insured.

CONCORD LETTER

Concord, N. H., July 14.—The 5th annual Forestry Conference in the White Mountains, under the auspices of the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests with the cooperation of the New Hampshire Forestry Commission, will be held at Concord, Thursday and Friday, July 17, 18 and 19. The morning and afternoon of Wednesday the 17th will be devoted to a trip to the Lost River, parties leaving the Deer Park Hotel at North Woodstock on the arrival of the morning and afternoon trains from Plymouth. Those going in the morning will take their luncheon. This trip will be one of the features of the conference, and will give those who attend an opportunity to see the reservation recently acquired by the society, and to explore the beautiful covers of the Lost River.

On the evening of Wednesday there will be a meeting at the Deer Park Hotel at which former Governor Rollins will preside. The address of welcome will be given by Governor Bass and Col. W. R. Brown, president of the State Forestry Commission, will outline the progress of forestry in New Hampshire during the last year. Mr. E. E. Woodbury, of the Board of Selectmen of Woodstock, will speak of the interest which the town has taken in the Lost River. There will also be short addresses by visiting members, and members of the American Forestry Association with lantern photographs of scenes in the national forest in the White Mountains.

On Thursday morning automobiles and mountain wagons will be taken for Profile, whence the party will go by trail to Bretton Woods. In the afternoon the Forestry Commission will hold a conference on the protection for the species.

HIS SIGHT RESTORED

George W. Morgan, Jr., blind for 14 weeks, Restored to Vision by an Accident.

Wilmington, Del., July 14.—George W. Morgan, Jr., aged 23, who went totally blind 14 weeks ago while undergoing treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore, restored his sight at his home here today by an accident. He tripped over a rug and fell, his forehead striking a door with great force. Instantly his sight returned.

Morgan was struck in the eye with a stone 11 years ago. In September he went to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment, remaining in Baltimore until a couple of weeks ago, meanwhile working in the Maryland workshop for the blind. He had partial sight until 4 weeks ago. When it left him. He will return to Baltimore and resume the treatment. The doctors believe they can now effect a cure.

AS TOLD BY MR. HOODSBARN:

One Story Includes Several Others Before He Gets to the End of His Tale.

"East Somerville—East Somerville!" shouted the brakeman. As the words went rambling around in the brain of Mr. Hoodsbarn, he came upon a long-lost second cousin. "That reminds me," said he to his fellow commuter, "I heard a mighty good little story last summer in a village down in Maine."

"So?" "Yes. You see, a family had just moved to the village from back in the country, and before they were fairly settled they sent the boy to school. Boy went to the school, and took a seat, feeling like a cat in a strange garret. After the morning exercises were over the teacher called him up and asked him his name. That's the way they did when I was a boy. First morning of school, you know; new teacher nervous and afraid of scholars; scholars nervous and afraid of teacher; like the little girl who met the fox in the path; both ran, girl one way, fox the other; see it done myself every day.

"Well, the new teacher would rap to order, then each one of us would read a verse from the Testament in turn, the teacher would make a prayer, and then begin the taking down of names and ages."

"Now while I think of it, did you ever hear about that prayer of old Pres. Hill of Harvard?"

"No." Well, he was a great student of philosophy—it was his regular hobby—and he stood up in chapel one morning and began his prayer this way: "Paradoxical as it may seem, O Lord, yet, nevertheless, it is true—"

"That taught the boys; and for years afterward tough statements to one another were always started by saying 'Paradoxical as it may seem.'"

"Why," was like old Seth Willard up in Swanzey; he down on his knees in class meeting in the Methodist church one night and says: 'As Thou well knowest, O Lord, my parked deer died last week.'"

"Well, about that new boy in school; whether the teacher called him up before prayer or after I can't say; but she asked him his name and he told her; his street and number and he told her. Then she asked him what his father's occupation was."

"Boy was stuck for a minute. 'Father's occupation?' 'Yes,' 'Well, ma'am, I ain't sure, 'cause we've just moved here, but I think he occupied five rooms.'"

Modern Educational Methods.

The old saw, "No royal road to learning," has been relegated to the rubbish heap of exploded theories. The teacher of Virgil interests her pupils—I wonder why I use the feminine pronoun?—with modeling in clay the scenes at Dido's court. The instructor in mathematics inculcates the principles of Euclid by means of pyramids and tetrahedrons, which the pupil, often with tedious and fearful endeavor, has evolved from a piece of cardboard. The English pedagogue, finding no such tangible methods of demonstrating the relation between subject and predicate, resorts to a well-known maxim: Teach the child to speak correctly by putting before him specimens of only the best English; and he need never know there is such a thing as grammar. We, too, would resort to this method if there were not in the simple formula a condition quite impossible, in democratic America, where, from nursery to parlor—and may I dare whisper it? even in our very schoolroom—the boy hears specimens of much that is not even good English.—Atlantic Monthly.

The Meat Habit.

Gautier, the great French authority on dietetics, says there are meat eaters in the same sense that there are wine drinkers. He insists that people get the appetite, the habit, the taste for meat just as they get into the habit of drinking wine, and there can be little doubt that he is right. Many people who give up the use of meat have a craving for something, which they think meat will satisfy. But it is not the meat they want after all; it is the fat that goes with the meat. If these persons will take pains to eat a little more fat they will find that the craving disappears. Many people in giving up the use of meat make the mistake of not taking fat enough. Some persons discard meat who are in the habit of eating butter. A great many others eat meat and bread, but do not take butter with the bread, perhaps, generally because there is a considerable amount of fat with the meat. A person giving up meat should take more fat.—Los Angeles Herald.

Curious Nicknames of Old.

Some curious nicknames are found in the Dutch records of New York in 1664, evidently due to the fact that certain persons either had no family name, or that it had been forgotten. In one instance there is recorded John Pietersen, alias Friend John. In the Newtown purchase from the Indians, dated in 1665, one of the boundaries is "by a Dutchman's land called the Hans the Boore," and in the Bushwick patent, dated October 12, 1667, one of the boundaries is "John the Swede's meadow." In 1695, in the Kings county records, a man is named living at Gowanus as "Tunis the Fisher." The common council of New York, in 1691, ordered Ash to be brought into the dock "over against the City Hall, or the house that Long Mary formerly lived in," and the same year an order was passed "that Top-Knot Betty and her children be provided for as objects of charity."

STRANGE DOGS OF ALASKA

Most Common Breed Is the Malamute or Native Dog—Are Wonderful Workers.

Dogs in Alaska are of all breed and size, the most common being the malamute, or native dog, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. The word "malamute" is an Indian word meaning "Eskimo," and is applied to both dogs and natives. The malamute is of the wolf strain—in fact, the best of the breed are half wolf. They evince all the characteristics of the wolf, both in appearance and in manner. Owing to his wolf-like fur, the malamute can easily stand the extreme Alaskan cold. He is a born fighter, an inveterate thief, and somewhat of a coward, for he will seldom fight singly against a lone adversary. The malamute, while well able to withstand the cold, does not seem to have the same order of intelligence as is displayed by the outside dog, and the best dog for Alaska would seem to be a mixture of the two strains.

Another native breed in the north is the huskie, but this breed is rarer than common usage of the word would imply. The real huskies are bred in the neighborhood of the Mackenzie river, and are more common in the territory under the jurisdiction of the Hudson Bay company than in Alaska.

Small dogs, such as fox terriers, are a rarity in Alaska, for in that country a dog is valuable in exact proportion to the amount he can pull. A sleigh-dog will weigh anything from 30 to 150 pounds, the average being about 75 pounds. It is surprising to the uninitiated how big a load a dog can pull, though I must admit I have never seen or heard of a dog in Alaska pulling 1,000 pounds, under the conditions described in a well-known novelist's book; nor have I ever seen or heard of a dog-fight as pictured so vividly in the story in which he graphically describes a fight where two dogs are battling for supremacy in the team, and the remainder of the dogs sit on their haunches and form a ring around the contestants, who, under these conditions, I suppose, would fight it out under Marquis of Queensbury rules.

I question whether such a fight ever occurred in natural history. If there are two Alaskan dogs fighting, and 40 non-interested dogs in the neighborhood, the fight will soon involve itself into one dog underneath and 41 dogs on top. The idea of an Alaskan dog calmly sitting on his haunches and coolly viewing the fight is too funny for anything; the joke can only be appreciated by those who have seen a bunch of malamutes in a fight.

Making Arrowroot Custard.

Two cupsful of mint, two table-spoonfuls of arrowroot, half a tea-spoonful of vanilla extract, two egg yolks, one-fourth of a tea-spoonful of salt, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar. Scald milk, mix arrowroot and sugar, add to scalded milk and cook ten minutes. Beat egg yolks slightly, add salt, pour milk mixture on to eggs, return to double boiler; stir constantly until thickened. Cool, flavor, and serve in custard cups.

HAMPTON BEACH CASINO

Next week is announced as the final engagement here at Hampton Beach Casino of Miss Augusta Perry and her company, and for the last week of this engagement two of Miss Perry's best plays will be given. For the first three days of next week commencing Monday, July 22, Miss Perry will be seen in a comedy drama entitled "The Girl and the Parson," in which play Miss Perry is seen in the role of "The Girl," a young woman who follows the profession of a bareback rider in a circus. The play opens with the circus making its appearance in one of the many small towns they visit. An accident happens to the girl and she is taken to the parsonage near by, the home of a young minister, who falls in love with her. The story of the play is an interesting one, there is a pretty love theme and plenty of good comedy. Miss Perry has a part particularly suited to her style of acting and the company is seen to advantage in the many quaint characters of the drama. Performances of "The Girl and the Parson" will be given every afternoon and evening for the first three days of the week and commencing Thursday and for the last three days a lively western comedy drama entitled "A Squaw's Love" will be the bill. This latter play teems with the atmosphere of the plains and affords an excellent opportunity for stage effects. In this play Miss Perry is seen in the role of a young Indian girl in love with a white man, and the situations are dramatic in the extreme but with sufficient comedy to relieve the tenseness of the play. This week will be the final appearance of Miss Perry and her company at Hampton Beach this summer and following the close of her engagement here, the return of Manager Flynn's clever comedians, singers and dancers in a new musical comedy, is announced.

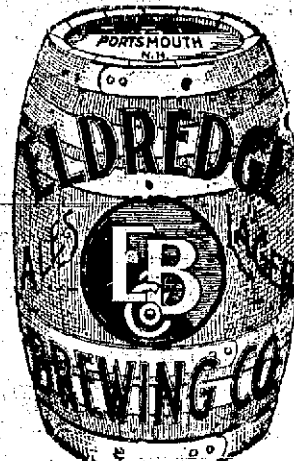

SIZZLING!

—That's what's happening down in New York City while The World-Joke Book man is writing this, but it makes no difference to the joke book! It's better than ever in hot weather. P. A. C. Lose Game at York, Beach.--Elks Win at Dover.--Riversides Defeat Soldiers.--Sailors Win from K. of C.--Rye Beach Opens Season

YORK BEACH, 3; P. A. C., 1.

The baseball season at York Beach was opened on Saturday, when the team representing the beach, namely College boys, defeated the P. A. C. in a rather hard luck game for the P. A. C.

Murray of Holy Cross pitched for the Beach and the P. A. C. wallowed him for ten hits, while Weare and Locke, who divided the pitching, only allowed six hits, but for all this the Beach team won mainly through poor base running on the part of the P. A. C. Ira Newick was disabled in the first inning, while running to second, spraining his ankle and making a very painful injury. Fredrick went to first and Clark went to second, and the former played a fine game. Fisher had his nailing eye and hit for a two and a three base hit. The P. A. C. hit and played good enough to win, but they were out of luck. Murray, the Holy Cross, while he was hit hard played a fine fielding game. The score:

RIVERSIDES, 10; FORT CONSTITUTION, 4.

The Riversides defeated the Fort Constitution team at Kittery on Saturday in a one-sided game, the Kittery boys getting to Kabalka for ten hits, which coupled with several errors gave them the game, 10 to 4. Pruett played a great game for the winners and Frederick hit hard for his team.

Three American Athletes Who Have Added Winning Points to United States Team at Olympics in Sweden

Sockholm, Sweden, July 15.—With the track and field games finishing Monday, July 15, there doesn't seem to be a chance in the world of the American Olympic team losing the international meet. The United States athletes are so far in the lead in the track and field sports—in fact, their total of points is greater than that of all other nations combined. Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian swimmer, winner of the 100 meter race, is one of the heroes of the hour here. The athletic experts believe he is the greatest aquatic star that ever appeared in an Olympic swimming contest. Harry Babcock of Columbia University is another idol, and so is Pat McDonald, the New York policeman. The former won the pole vault in easy fashion, while the latter captured the shot put.

with the impression that it was intended that it should. It is the difference of opinion that makes horse racing and the same applies to base ball. Just to get an idea of what the fans think about the matter, the opinions of ten were taken. All ten of them agreed that Travers and Fisher for a battery was the right dope, with Sorlette as a spare pitcher. All ten agreed that Ira Newick was the right man for captain and first base, eight of the ten picked Hoffman for second and it was made unanimous, nine agreed on McPheters and Bill Brackett. Mac to take short and Bill third base. One wanted Sperry Locke on third. Ten agreed that George Woods for left field looked good, for the reason that he can bat, one of the best hitters in the league, fields well and has only one draw back, his wing, but the two others object that. Seven wanted Hanson at left, three wanted Tom Lynskey. Six favored Swasey at right two Tredick and two Mates. So that the consensus of opinions was that the team would be made up of Fisher, catcher; Travers and Sorlette, pitchers; Bill Brackett, third; George Woods, center; Seth Hanson, left Swasey, right. Pick one out yourself, everybody has a right to their opinion. Send it in, it might look good in the paper.

The fans who went to York Beach on Saturday to see the P. A. C. and the York Beach team perform, are saying things against the umpire. It was the Beach teams first game, they had to win according to his idea and with his help they did, although the P. A. C. wallowed Murray, the Holy Cross pitcher, for ten hits.

If there are no postponed games to be played off next Friday the Elks will play a game with the Dover team. They put it over the up river ball tossers on Saturday in a ten inning game.

Ira Newick had hard luck at York Beach spraining his ankle so badly that it is feared he will be out of the game for some weeks.

TO TAKE NO CHANCES

John Mitchell to Be Called into Court on Warrant if Necessary, for Contempt.

Washington, July 14.—Unless John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, recently adjudged guilty of contempt with President Gompers and Secretary Morrison, appears before Justice Wright in the District Supreme Court tomorrow for sentence, or files a written agreement waiving any rights he has in the matter, a bench warrant for his arrest will be issued. There was some doubt about the right of the court to sentence Mitchell when the latter was not present and Justice Wright deferred sentence until tomorrow. It is expected the labor leader will either agree to sentence in his absence or will be present. Mitchell has been on a lecture tour through the West and was not in court when the sentence of 12 months and 6 months in jail, respectively, were imposed on Gompers and Morrison.

DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY CAUSES DAMAGE

Dwelling House of Mrs. Pike and A. G. Yeaton Damaged by Fire.

A defective chimney in a double house on Denison street, owned by Charles S. Fernald and occupied by two families, Mrs. Annie O. Pike and Mr. Allen G. Yeaton, set fire to the place and considerable damage was done. An alarm was sent in from box 7, the department made short work of the fire after it was located. Damage will be between $500 and $600. Read the West Ann on Page 2.

NORTH CAROLINA, 9; K. OF C., 1.

The baseball team from the North Carolina defeated the Knights of Columbus at the play grounds on Saturday afternoon by a score of 9 to 1. Heffernan pitched the first three innings for the Knights and he was hit hard, and he struck out three men. Travers went in at the end of the third and after that but one man reached second, and that on an error. Lombardi pitched for the North Carolina and he had the Knights guessing at all times.

Will He Resign?

The final decision of Governor Robert Perkins Bass, remarks the Laconia Democrats, on the question of cutting loose the Republican party and casting his political fortunes with Colonel Roosevelt's new Progressive party, is awaited with considerable interest, not from any importance which is likely to attach to the third party movement in New Hampshire, but because of other interesting complications. If Governor Bass decides to renounce the Republican party, common decency will of course compel him to resign his position as governor of New Hampshire, as he could hardly afford to hold an office bestowed upon him by a party against which he engages in political warfare. As there is no lieutenant-governor in the Granite state a vacancy in the governorship is filled by the president of the state senate, who in this case is Mr. William D. Swart of Nashua, a stand-pat Republican, and the promotion of Mr. Swart to the governor's chair, would give the regular Republicans full sway in the governor's council, which consists of two Progressives and three stand-patters. This change of complexion in the make-up of the governor and council would give the regular Republicans the preference in the disposal of any "plums" which remain to be distributed during the term of office to which Governor Bass was elected, and would in various other ways put the insurgent movement in New Hampshire on the blink. There seems to be one way out of the dilemma, in case Governor Bass decides to vacate the chair of the chief executive and enlist in Roosevelt's third term movement, and this plan is suggested by the action which the governor took some few months ago when he vacated the chair temporarily, and disregarded the constitutional provision for filling the vacancy, by hiring a substitute to fill the chair while he was out of the state on his honeymoon trip. The old-line Republicans who are anticipating that their wing of the Grand Old Party will again control the distribution of plums and the management of state affairs, in case Bass breaks away from their party, may yet be doomed to disappointment, as the governor is quite likely to appoint Col. W. B. Rotch of Milford to serve out his unexpired term, in case he resigns.

Senator LaFollette's Impudence.

How dare Senator LaFollette call on Mr. Roosevelt to publish his campaign expense account? asks the New York World. Are there no bounds to his impudence? Mr. Roosevelt has always conscientiously respected the confidence reposed in him by the interests that have contributed to his various campaign funds. His sense of honor is too high even to let him share such secrets with the public. Not a single item has ever been revealed except where the law absolutely compelled publicity. The Standard Oil, the beef trust, the steel trust, the Morgan interests, have never had the slightest occasion to complain of Mr. Roosevelt's personal lack of discretion in such financial matters.

Automobile Operation in New York.

The aldermanic committee which has been investigating the conditions of automobile operation in New York city is right in urging that all drivers of automobiles, whether chauffeurs or owners, should be compelled to show to some public representative their competency to operate cars. That is the custom in Europe. In New York state the aldermen find even the best of chauffeurs to be "superficial and inadequate."

Bird's-Eye Views.

Perhaps you think it is an easy job for a presidential candidate to take his stand firmly on a high moral plane and yet not get too high to reach down and get the nomination, remarks the Boston Globe.

The service to civilization which the airship may be capable of rendering must be great to compensate for the toll of human life there has been exacted.

So genially content is W. J. Bryan's frame of mind that he would probably shake hands with Mr. Murphy again if opportunity presented itself.

The fact that nobody gives three cheers for the ice man does not prevent him from being recognized as a highly important personage.

For a few days the campaigners of all persuasions will enjoy a period of serene confidence that their candidate will win.

How not look as if Harmon Hall would ever attain the importance that Temporary Hall continues to wield.

Current Topics.

The Accident to the New Hampshire.
Some uneasiness was felt by the public the other day when a large passenger boat on Long Island Sound jammed a hole in the stern of the battleship New Hampshire, lost this mishap indicated poor construction or materials in the American warships. On the contrary, the damage that was done to the battleship was so slight as to indicate exceptionally good workmanship and material, and there is no reason whatever for alarm on this score. Because a hole was stove in the side does not suggest that the vessel would be vulnerable in a vital part to the shot of an enemy in war. The armor belt of a warship covers only the engines and magazines amidships, and the heaviest draught might be crumpled up at bow or stern in a collision with any hard-nosed vessel of high power. If a battleship were armor-plated in a manner to withstand penetrating impacts at all points it would be too heavy to be maneuvered, a clumsy, dangerously overloaded craft, of little use in an engagement. However powerful its armament, it would be only valuable in the degree that its target came conveniently within range of its own volition, and it would be absurdly easy of attack and destruction. The modern armored ship is a compromise between toughness and mobility, and the New Hampshire, like all other vessels of her class, is capable of serious injury if a blow is given on the right quarter, and fairly impregnable to shots aimed at the places where wounds are most costly.—Washington Star.

Cortelyou and Taggart

George B. Cortelyou was a more satisfactory witness before the Senate investigating committee on the subject of contributions to the presidential campaign of 1904 than Thomas Taggart. He seemed to know more, and to frank about telling it.

He must have known more. He was actually in charge of the Roosevelt campaign, and not in commission. He stood very near his chief, and was thoroughly in his confidence. Besides, the republicans won, and that stamped things on Mr. Cortelyou's memory. Still, he did not know all that the committee desired to know.

Mr. Taggart was but a figurehead on the Parker side. New Yorkers were nearer the candidate, knew the situation better, and acted on their knowledge. The voice was the voice of Thomas, selling good stories at democratic headquarters, but the hand was the hand of August, taking in the shekels for campaign expenses. And so Mr. Taggart could tell the committee little. Mr. Belmont has not yet testified, and Thomas F. Ryan, who ought to know something on the subject, sailed for Europe yesterday to be gone until next election day, when he will return to vote for Wilson and Marshall.

There is one thing Mr. Cortelyou told the committee which shows progress in such matters, and which should give us all hope. A rich man offered a contribution of fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, and wanted it remembered in his favor when Mr. Roosevelt came to discharging the diplomatic posts. In other

CURRENT OPINION

BY
MRS. D. D. HEAD,
Wife of the Mayor of Kenosha, Ill.

WHERE ARE THE MOTHERS?

FOR if a son loses respect for his mother the day he attains to man's estate, the fault lies with the woman who bore him, not with the laws of his country.

Instead of the feeling that at last, here his freedom, here the chance to shake off the shackles of feminine authority, I maintain that our man-child steps forth into the eventful day with the primal song of the conqueror sounding in his heart. His right to enter deep into the battles of life, the seething cauldron of political strife, to brush back with strong, young hands, the harsh, rough edges that encroach to closely upon the lives of those he holds most dear.

God fashioned in man the elemental desire to fight, to conquer, to overcome; and in woman the desire to minister, to soothe, to caress. God looked upon his handiwork and found it good. If we take from our children this birthright, what will be provided to fill the vacuum?

And all that is left to the mother is the home, "with all its small and empty aims." Of a woman who took this view of her home life, one might purchase expects to find a son with respect not too deep rooted to take wing upon contact with the world's pitfalls. But to the woman who knows her power, who feels her sovereignty, who realizes that in her hands God has placed a scepter to move and sway her kingdom at will, the small outside world seems dim and far away.

If her time has been spent profitably and wisely she stands with head erect and proudly shining eyes as her boy goes forth to cast his first vote, feeling in her heart she has given the world a man who must approach the reefs and breakers, to be sure; who must be scratched and lashed and buffeted by them, but whose moral strength and vigor has been husbanded by her so that he needs must reach the shore at last.

Now, if woman's life is full to the brim, as it should be, with affairs of her own dominion, where will she find the time, to say nothing of the energy, to affiliate with the man in the field of politics?

We must all agree that it will require thought, study and research to grasp even the smallest details of this political game. And while our minds are thus occupied who's going to look to the raising of our children—our future voters? Who is going to delve into the world of art and letters so that our husbands and sons may become unconsciously inoculated?

words, here was a money bid for an appointment to office. Mr. Cortelyou declined the offer.

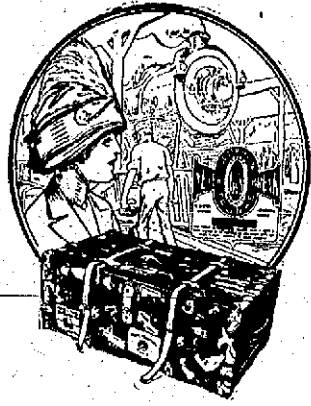

In 1902 James J. Van Alen, a rich New Yorker, made a contribution to the Cleveland campaign fund through William C. Whitney, with the expectation it was afterward charged, of securing a diplomatic appointment. The sum named in the printed gossip of that day was $50,000. After his inauguration, Mr. Cleveland tendered the mission to Italy to Mr. Van Alen, and urged him to accept. But Mr. Van Alen had grown sensitive as the result of attacks in democratic newspapers and declined. He canceled whatever understanding had been reached concerning his campaign contribution, and filled his office at all under Mr. Cleveland's administration.

The total amount named by Mr. Cortelyou as used by the republicans in the election of Mr. Roosevelt is large, but lacks some four million dollars of the amount that has figured in all gossip on the subject since. That Chairman Cortelyou shook the corporations down for enormous sums, has been repeated so often in the past eight years, the story has become a fixture in commonplace circles, and will never be dislodged. Mr. Cortelyou may protest, but the curbstoners know better, and this is the season for the circulation of charges about boodle at the polls. Round and large numbers are in order.—Washington Star.

The Thaw Farce

It is to be hoped that the costly farce now being enacted at White Plains, N. Y., will have its good effect in finally demonstrating the need of a better method of determining the degree of sanity of a man accused or convicted of crime who sets up as a defense or a reason for later release the plea of mental irresponsibility. Harry Thaw is now endeavoring, for the second time after his commitment to the state prison for the criminal insane at Matteawan, to secure his release on the ground that he has regained his sanity and is laboring as vigorously to prove himself sane as formerly he sought to demonstrate his insanity. The state has called its experts,

WORKING EIGHT HOURS

Operators at Telephone Exchange Get Shorter Hours Under the New Arrangement

Under the new arrangement the operating force at the central exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company are now working eight hours in split shifts. About thirty operators are employed there, which shows the constant increase in business and the importance of the office in this city.

The different arrangement of working hours is understood to apply to the day force and that the night operators are still doing duty on nine hour shifts.

M'ARTHUR WINS THE OLYMPIC MARATHON

South African Runner Beat Out the Pick of Nations--United States Athletes Have Great Lead

The Americans lost the classic event of the Olympic games when K. K. M'Arthur of South Africa won the Marathon race on Sunday. The United States, however, in the field and track events alone, have more points than all the other nations combined, and has a fine lead in the standing in all events.

The standing as given out by the officials on Saturday night, was:

KITTERY LETTER

Breezy Items From Village Across the River.

Kittery, July 14. Riverside Lodge, No. 72, 1 O. O. F., meets this evening.

Kittery Grange meets on Thursday evening and several candidates will be given the first and second degrees.

On Wednesday evening of this week a reception will be tendered to Rev. Allison J. Hayes and bride at the Second Methodist church.

On Thursday evening a concert and lawn party will be given at the Second Christian church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society.

The Phobes held their regular meeting on Friday evening last, the hostesses being Misses Allison and Annie Locke and Miss Channie Brooks. Stereoscopic views of Italy, Sicily and Rome were given by J. Wilson Hobbs, these being described by Rev. Mr. Nollan. A guessing contest followed, Miss Mildred Donnell winning. The big roast was handsomely decorated with crimson and Dorothy Perkins rambles, interspersed with white lilies and green foliage. A serving table with white linen cover, with silver candelabra on either end and a huge hand painted punch bowl in the center was very attractive. Fruit punch, assorted cake and fancy cookies were served. It was voted to hold a garden party on the evening of July 28 on the grounds of Hon. Moses A. Safford. The committee in charge includes Miss Mary Safford, Miss Channie Brooks and Mrs. Katherine Stacey.

Mrs. Charles Woods and daughter Gladys have returned to their home in Full River, after a visit with Mrs. Georgie Seawards.

Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams of Boston, who have been guests of Hon. Moses A. Safford, have returned home.

Mrs. D. H. Hutchins and Miss Alice Hutchins of Manchester are visiting Mrs. Howard Hutchins of Government street.

Miss Sarah Damon and Miss Bernice Farrington are visiting at Kittery Point. Mrs. George Remick of South Eliot was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Miss Annie McCaffrey of Chelsea has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carter of Rice avenue.

Mrs. Isaac N. Thord of Massachusetts is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Andrews of Kittery Depot.

Mrs. William Wurm of Walker street has returned from a visit to Newport, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgdon of Badger's Island are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Miss Mildred Donnell on Sunday concluded her duties as organist at the Second Christian church, after eight years of faithful service.

Mrs. Frank Robbins and children of Rogers road have returned from a visit to relatives in Chelsea.

George Hobbs of South Berwick was a visitor in town on Saturday.

George Manont of Pride's Crossing is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gerlach.

Thomas Plimpton has concluded his duties in Portsmouth.

Mrs. Lee of Boston is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Baker of Otis avenue.

Mrs. Walter Philbrick has returned from a visit to her son in Quincy, Mass.

Mrs. Harvey Jaroline and two daughters are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson of Love lane.

Miss Grace Tobey of Taunton is visiting relatives in town.

Miss Amelia Hackney is having a two weeks' vacation from her duties at the Staples store, Portsmouth.

Mrs. Andy Wentworth, grandchild and nurse, of New York, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse of Rogers road.

The Ladies' Aid of the Second Methodist church will meet on Thursday evening with Mrs. Charles Jones of Kittery Depot.

Miss Muriel Romp has returned to her home in Gloucester, Mass., after a visit with Miss Carrie Smithers.

Miss Irene Melroe of Squerville is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Walter Philbrick.

Mrs. Frank O'Donnell has returned to her home in Boston, after a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson are on so to housekeeping in the tenement in the house occupied by Mrs. Almendra Stover on Pleasant street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoyt of Shrewsbury, Mass., are passing the summer vacation with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Remick of Oak Bank.

Mrs. James Jones and daughter Eleanor left Saturday for a visit to relatives in Bath.

Rev. A. J. Hayes is passing the day at old Orchard.

Mrs. Stone has returned to her home in Boston after a visit with her sister, Mrs. James Berry of the Intervene.

Miss Hattie Flint has returned from a trip to Portland.

Miss Irene Philbrick of Quincy, Mass., is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Philbrick.

It is reported that Rev. Allison J. Hayes has rented the house of George Stangel, on Echo street.

Mrs. Gideon M. Haynes and son passed Saturday with relatives in Exeter.

The Second Methodist Sunday school will probably have their picnic on July 21, the place not yet decided upon.

The Riverides won the game of ball from the nine from Fort Constitution on Saturday, the score being 10 to 4.

The Ladies' Fancy Work Club will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. William Hill at the navy yard.

The Ladies' Social Circle of the Second Christian church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Edwin Mayo on Rice avenue.

An adjourned meeting of the Second Christian Society will be held in the vestry of the church Tuesday evening, July 16, at 7.45 o'clock. The question of a new heating plant for the church will be considered as well as other business of importance taken up at this meeting.

A concert and lawn festival under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society will be given in the vestry and on the grounds of the Second Christian church on Thursday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. Ice cream, cake and homemade candy will be on sale. Miss Lillian Walker, a graduate this year of the Emerson College of Oratory, will give readings. Robert Ellery of Portsmouth will give selections on the violin. Miss Florence Marshall, accompanist. Other well known local talent will appear. An excellent program is assured.

Maine Woods Tragedy.

Because some small boys drank Whit Tothaker's and Han Vinling's sap, replacing the contents of the sap buckets with water, Messrs. Tothaker and Vinling both express the opinion that this has been a mighty unsatisfactory cyrus season. With visions of gallons of golden syrup the men tapped their maples and waited patiently for a run of sap. It came as they supposed, and when they gathered the well-filled buckets their eyes glistened in anticipation of the treat in store. Then came the boiling process. High rose the flames about the pans and kettles, but still higher rose the indignation of Messrs. Tothaker and Vinling because the "sap" refused to turn into syrup. The liquid in the pans gave forth a vast amount of steam, but that was all there was doing. Finally both men gave up in disgust what seemed to be a hopeless task. The next day Whit said to Han, "Did you get any syrup out of the sap you boiled down yesterday?" "No," replied Han, "this has been a mighty poor sap year."—Maine Woods.

Golden Sauce.

Cream one-third cup of butter and add one cup powdered sugar, beating it in gradually. Then add three tablespoons cream or milk slowly, and one-half teaspoonful vanilla extract. Beat one egg thoroughly, add to sauce and heat over hot water, stirring it frequently. Serve when very hot.

OLD PRISON SHIP HAVING HER TROUBLES

BOSTON, July 14.—With her crew on the verge of mutiny because of unpalatable food, the British convict ship, Success, which left Glasgow, Scotland, three months ago for New York, has been ordered to Boston. The official announcement of the change of destination to this port was made yesterday by the agents of the ship.

According to dispatches received from Capt. John Scott, the veteran Nova Scotian, in command of the Success, the crossing of the Atlantic in the square nosed old barkentine has been one round of weird experiences. Innumerable accidents to masts and rigging, shortage of fresh water and deteriorating provisions have been the lot of the vessel.

The Success carries a crew of 18 men before the mast, mostly Northern Russians and Finns. The men are highly superstitious, and according to reports received here, ghost after ghost has been seen by the members of the forecastle watches clanking chains throughout the 'tween-decks and in the cell rooms of the old floating prison.

Seriousness has the situation become that the men refuse to sleep or remain below decks for any length of time, and will only go beneath hatches in couples or gangs.

The Success has been 90 days out from Glasgow, Scotland, and once had to put back to Queenstown to have a new mast stepped, the foremast having carried away when 100 miles off the Irish coast.

Built in 1790, the old bluff-bowed and high-sided armed merchantman is almost unmanageable in anything but a fair wind, and the difficulties of navigation have been great. The original intention was to keep to the southern ship lanes, but adverse winds forced her into the northern tracks and for a long time the old-timer was in constant danger from ice fields.

Added to the natural difficulties attending the navigation of such a cumbersome old sailing relic, the owners ran up against an additional snag when the proposition of crossing the ocean was made. So strong was the sentiment against letting the old prison ship be exhibited in America that the British government refused to grant clearance papers or a bill of health.

She is coming here without these official papers, merely getting consular clearance and health bills from the American consuls at Lancaster and at Queenstown.

Capt. Scott in his wireless communication to the agents from off Success asked that a tug be sent to meet him and tow him to port. The tug will go from here and meet the vessel about 100 miles off the coast. The old vessel will be docked at the Charles River Stores, between the bridges in the Charles river.

William T. Lyons
The funeral of William T. Lyons was held at one o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Cook, on South street, Rev. Harold Folsom, rector of the St. John's church, officiating. A delegation were present from the Red Men and from the Osgood Lodge, No. 42, I. O. O. F., and the latter held their service.

Interment was in the family lot in Harmony Grove cemetery under the direction of O. W. Ham. The pallbearers were William Mason, Albert Plummer, J. Vernon Ward and Herbert Griffin.

AFTER DINNER SWEETS

CONFECTIONS BOTH PALATABLE AND HEALTHFUL.

Cocoa Ice Cream With Raspberry Juice Is a Delight—Steamed or French Rice Pudding Good—Perfect Lemon Sauce.

Cocoa Ice Cream.—Two cupsful of milk, one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of cornstarch or arrowroot, four egg yolks, two cupsful of cream, or two cupsful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter, one fourth to half a cupful of cocoa, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt. Mix the arrowroot, add scalded milk and cook 20 minutes in double boiler. Beat eggs, add cream, or milk and butter; pour on to this mixture cornstarch mixture; add vanilla and freeze. One cupful of raspberry juice added just before freezing gives a pleasant variety.

Steamed Pudding.—One-fourth of a pound of flour, one-fourth of a pound of suet, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, a dust of nutmeg, a little milk, one ounce of crushed almonds; one-fourth of a pound of bread crumbs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, two eggs, one grated lemon rind and juice, two ounces of currants and a pinch of salt. Put all ingredients into a basin, the suet put through a chopper, beat up the eggs and add to mixture, also a little milk if required. Grease a pudding mould, plain or fancy, and throw into it some coarse brown sugar, shake well, so that the mould is well coated with the sugar; cover with buttered paper and steam two hours. Serve with white sauce.

French Rice Pudding.—A quarter of a pound of ground rice, one plate of milk, three eggs, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one lemon rind, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, brown bread crumbs, and three ounces of Sultana raisins. Grind the rice in a coffee mill. Boil the milk slowly, sprinkle in ground rice; boil till thick, six minutes, remove and add sugar and butter. Mix well, cool a little, add grated rind of half a lemon. Butter a plate mould, dust with toasted crumbs, pour in the pudding. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—One small lemon, one teaspoonful of water, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, one tablespoonful of sugar, a few drops of carmine. Put the cornstarch into a pan, add other ingredients, and bring to the boil.

NIGHT LIFE ON BROADWAY

What Happened to Young Girl Who Did Not Know Dangers Hidden in Wine Cup.

She was just a little girl—17 years old, perhaps—sitting at a table in one of New York's all night restaurants. Behind her cabaret singers brayed through their songs. A squad of lively violins shrieked and scraped. Now and then the dancers twisted and writhed their way through the narrow aisles and the men and women at the tables sat up a little straighter and bought more wine. Outside rain was falling drearily.

Within all was warmth and animation and clamor. The little girl was unused to it, perhaps. Her skin still bore the clear taint of youth and perfect health. Her cheeks had not lost that curve which persists until maturity is reached. Her eyes were big and round, and she watched the scene with far more of interest than she gave to her table mates. Now and then the thick-nosed man with her demanded her attention, and she gave him a perfunctory glance and smile. She drank her wine with an avidity which betokened inexperience. The other women at her table sipped their wine carefully. They knew its dangers.

Suddenly, without a word, the little girl fell from her chair to the floor. She fell heavily, inertly, as a log might fall. The hard-faced waiters rushed to carry her into a dressing room. The party at her own table ordered more wine and talked louder.

Those who sat near forgot the incident, until ten, perhaps fifteen, minutes had passed. Then they saw the child her eyes glazed with drink, barely able to stand upon her feet, her hat awry, her coat flaring open above her fawcety little bodice, with its deeply scored V at the neck, being led down the aisle, a waiter on either side. The door was opened and she was thrown out upon the street. Before the double leaves of the door closed those sitting within caught a fleeting glimpse of the long gray shafts of rain, slanting downward under the glare of arc lights, hissing into the puddles gathered on the gleaming cobble.

Real High Jumpers in Africa.

The sensation caused by George Horner, the Stanford university student, who has been smashing high-jumping records, calls to mind the high jumping seen recently by the duke of Mecklenburg during a trip through the German East African protectorate. An account of it is given to the Geographic Magazine. The jumpers were of the Watutsi tribe, "a tall, well-made people, with an almost ideal physique," their stature ranging from "five feet eleven and a half inches to seven feet two and a half inches." The exactness of the figures indicates that the duke did not depend on guesswork and estimate. In any case, the Watutsi can jump in proportion to their height—the best performer cleared eight feet and five inches. Even the Watutsi "kids" got over the bar at a height of five feet. The conditions are thus described by the duke: "A line which could be raised or lowered at will was stretched between two slender trees standing on an incline. The athletes had to run up to this and jump from a small termite heap a foot in height." But the termite heap's the rub; a foot off the record, that means. Still the Germans ought to send post-haste to the Watutsi country for a couple of high jumpers and include them in their Olympic team.

China a Market for Jellyfish.

A very profitable industry in Chosen on a new line has been suggested by the authorities of the fishery section of the government-general. It is the fishing for jellyfish, so abundantly found in the seas of West Chosen.

While the sea offers much obstruction to the fishing industry in general, as its presence in large numbers often makes the use of nets impossible and sometimes compels fishermen to abandon their work, the fish itself will bring in a large amount of money if caught, properly prepared, and exported to China for cooking purposes. China is a vast market for it, for it is there that salted jellyfish is considered a great delicacy and one of the indispensable foodstuffs, especially in summer.

There is a great demand for it every year from Shanghai, Ningpo, Hongkong and Canton. In Whanghai province great numbers of them are often seen drifted ashore after a storm, and as many of them as one wishes can be gathered gratis. Unemployed Koreans may be hired at low wages as gatherers or workmen in preparing the jellyfish for salting.—Seoul Press.

Pleas for the Guitar.

The London Pall Mall Gazette urges the cultivation of the guitar. "The guitar has always been typical of the troubadour spirit, and its revival might herald a return to the gentle oblivion of earlier times." The writer insists that the guitar is more suitable than the piano as an accompaniment to the voice; it can be played indoors or in the open air, with equally good effect, and on the river the harplike quality of its tone is simply entrancing. Furthermore, a large variety of compositions, grave and gay, romantic and classical, are suited to its strings. As an accompanying instrument it is exceptionally easy to play.

PUT UP CELERY SEASONING

Excellent Table Condiment May Easily Be Made at Home—Use for Old Wash Boiler.

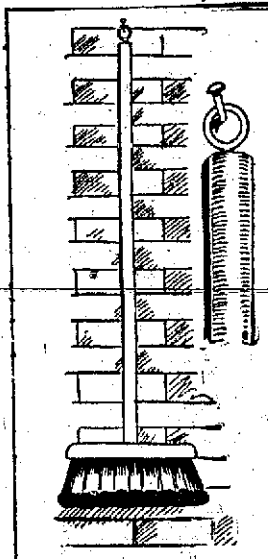

An excellent celery seasoning may be made at home. Get five cents' worth of celery seed; run it through the finest knife of the grinder or break it in a mortar; mix with about ten times its bulk of table salt and bottle.

Nothing is more suitable for the warm weather curtains than scrim or even linen in a coarse weave, and if this is bought in a plain color lovely sets for doors and windows can be made with the addition of a little stenciling.

A use for an old wash-boiler is to stand it in a convenient place on the back porch or near the back steps, and put all old papers in it. When the boiler is full set it in the path and apply a match to the papers. Keep the lid of the boiler on until the proper time comes to burn the waste.

In washing very fine muslins, they should be soaked in tepid water in which borax has been dissolved, one tablespoonful of borax to a gallon of water being sufficient. After half an hour they can be rubbed gently in soap made of fine white curd soap, and boiling water then poured over them and left to cool. They should be well rinsed and squeezed rather than wrung out.

HANG UP THE BROOM

When not in use, every broom should be suspended so that the material of which it is formed may not rest upon the ground, as that course will quickly spoil the best article ever manufactured. There are various ways of doing this. Probably the simplest and best is to provide the handle with a screw eye fitted in the end.

Beef Grenadines.

From a beef tenderloin, cut inch slices. Melt a little butter in a frying pan, the slices and cook slowly for ten minutes on each side without really browning or giving them the appearance of being fried. When turned, sprinkle the upper side with salt, pepper and a few drops of mushroom catsup. Have ready a thick brown sauce in which has been cooked one tablespoon of chopped ham, one teaspoon of sherry and one teaspoon of mushroom catsup. Strain and see that it is well seasoned. Roll some brussels sprouts until tender, drain and reheat for a moment in a saucypan containing a little butter-melted, salt and pepper, toss and shake until they absorb the butter. Heap the sprouts in the center of the platter, put the sauce (which should be very thick) around them, and arrange the grenadines in a circle round the base of the sprouts.

Fried Potatoes "La Cuisine Creole."

Wash and prepare a sufficient quantity of potatoes for the meal. Slice them in a machine, taking care to bear down lightly, so as to have the slices very thin. Have ready a vessel of very hot lard, and drop the sliced potatoes into it, letting them remain until they begin to brown. Take them out with a wire ladle, scatter a little fine salt over them, and serve while hot. Success depends almost entirely upon having the lard sufficiently hot. If the potatoes do not brown, but absorb fat, and are limp and greasy, be sure the lard must be made hotter. Properly fried, they may be eaten with relish when cold, as they are crisp and palatable.

Asbestos Pad.

An asbestos pad for the table may be made in this way: Get enough asbestos paper to cover the table with double thickness. From a couple of old sheets cut two pieces the size of the table. Baste the asbestos paper between them and quilt it on the sewing machine, using a long stitch. This is necessary, as the paper tears and pulls apart easily. Put this pad on the table under your silence cloth, and there will be no marks made on the polished surface by hot dishes.

Fruit Pasties.

Wheat meal, apples, currants, suet, cinnamon, sugar, lemon peel. Make a dough by mixing wheat meal with ice-cold water, add grated coconut if desired; knead as quickly as possible to a stiff, hard dough; roll very thin. Core and chop the apples, mix with the currants and other ingredients, inclose portions in lengths of the pastry, bake and when cold cut into slices.

AYRSHIRE CLUB MEETS.

Members From All Parts of New England Are Guests of George R.

Wales at His Home in Beverly.

BEVERLY, July 14.—An informal gathering of the New England Ayrshire Club was held Saturday afternoon at the Summer home of George R. Wales, president of the club, at North Beverly, about 45 being present. The members of the club from all over New England were met by Mr. Wales and carried to his Summer home about a mile from the station in automobiles.

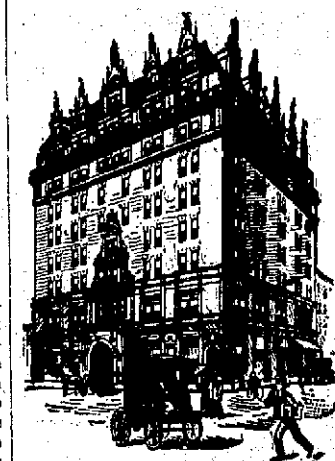

Shortly before two the party set down to dinner under a large tent erected on the grounds. At the close of the banquet a few speeches were made, Mr. Wales acting as toastmaster. Among those present was Mayor Frederick A. Dodge, who welcomed the visitors to the city.

After the speech making many members took an auto ride along the North Shore.

Among those present were: E. J. Fletcher, Greenland, N. H.; A. B. Marble, Boston; G. N. Fuller, Middleboro; C. M. Windlow, Brandon, Vt.; George R. Stickney, Newburyport; H. M. Kimball, Concord, N. AT WILLIE'S BEDTIME

WHEN MOTHER HAS SESSION WITH FRACTIOUS OFFSPRING.

Of Course You Never Heard a Woman Talk Like This—If He Was Your Boy What Would You Do?

Willie, will you just look at that clock? You have looked at it? Then why don't you get ready for bed? You know that you must always be in bed by 8:30. I don't care if Ted Thomas does sit up until nine. Half-past eight is your bedtime and—Stop that muttering! You know that I have told you many times not to mutter and—No, you cannot sit up to study your home lesson! Strange that you never think of your home lesson until your bedtime! You will have time to study it in the morning if you get up early. Yes, you will! No, the clock is not half an hour fast! I had your father set it by his watch this very morning. No, you can't just finish that story. You have had the whole evening in which to read and study, and you have done nothing but dawdle. Now you are very eager to read and study, aren't you? I don't care anything about what other boys do, for—If you do not stop that muttering I shall call your father! Yes, you will care! And I want you to wash your hands good before you go to bed. When did you wash them?—No, it isn't only sissy-boys who have clean hands. Willie Smythe, will you just bear in mind that it is your mother to whom you are speaking? Yes, you act as if you knew it! You will have cause to remember it if I call your father. He isn't your mother, as you very well know. Don't you be impertinent! That is one thing your mother will not put up with, as I have told you a hundred times! Why don't you take off your shoes? You pick up that necktie! The idea of flinging things around the room like that! That isn't the place for your jacket!—Idiot-like to know what the house would look like if I wasn't particular! Stop jerking so at that shoe lace! I don't care if it is in a hard knot. Jerking like that will only make the knot harder. Now, I knew that you would break that shoe lace! You would try the patience of—Willie! You pick up that shoe and put it where it belongs at night! No, you cannot have something to eat before you go to bed. The idea of it! After all the supper you had: What are you taking all of those things out of your pockets for? You put them right back! It would take a good hour to look over all of the things in your pockets. What under the sun, moon and stars are you carrying around three dirty handkerchiefs for? And you were fussing yesterday because you couldn't find a clean handkerchief!

Now you hustle off to the bathroom and give those hands a good scrubbing! You wish that you lived in a land where there wasn't any water? How long do you think that you would live there? You give those hands a good scrubbing! Use plenty of soap. Be sure and wash back of your ears. Use plenty of water. I never saw such a sissy as you are, to think that you can get yourself clean with half a teaspoon of water. Your towel isn't on its hook? I am sure that it isn't if you were the only one who used it last. Look for—And you call your self washed already? Let me see your hands. Willie Smythe! The idea of you calling those hands washed! They will do for tonight, but you have simply got to wash yourself in dead earnest in the morning. I shall look after those ears myself then. Now you go to your room and to bed. It is a good three-quarters of an hour after your regular bedtime, and you know that mother always insists on you going to bed at exactly 8:30, and the sooner you learn that you must mind your mother, the better. I don't believe that you have been in bed at 8:30 for a month. You can't find your nightgown? Judging from the rest of the stuff in your pockets, perhaps your nightgown is there. No, you shall not go to bed without it. You'll find it somewhere in the closet in your room. You found it? I knew that you would. I want that muttering stopped! It's the tenth time tonight that I have told you to stop muttering, and you know that when mother speaks she has to be obeyed! Goodnight, Willie! That's a pretty way to say goodnight to your mother, isn't it? You most certainly cannot take a book to bed with you for a little while! And Deane says he reads in bed every night? That is nothing to me. If his mother wants to let him do anything that foolish, she can; but your mother is not that kind of a woman. Get right into bed and put out that light. Such a time as I have getting you to bed every night, and I'll have a worse time getting you up in the morning. Got that light out? You'd better! Stop that whistling! Goodnight, Willie! Dear, dear, those boys!—Judge.

Swiss Army Scandal.

Much attention has been devoted to the Swiss newspapers of late to the case of a young Swiss officer, at St. Gall, who ordered a corporal to beat a private with his sword belt for a minor offense. When the colonel of the regiment heard of the affair he promptly placed both lieutenant and corporal under arrest, and the private was sent to hospital. The young officer has just been sentenced to ten days' confinement to barracks and the corporal to five days. The affair, however, has not yet ended, as the victim can claim damages for assault.

Why, Quigway refused to help his election.

Declares Candidate Entirely Lacking in Moral Character and Proves It by the Episode of the Cow.

"Quigway," said Weatherwax, "we want to elect Clinker alderman from this ward. He's the finest kind of a man, stands strong for the uplift and all that sort of thing, but he always has refused to have anything to do with politics. However, we need him, and if the matter is placed before him in the right way he'll consent to run. A committee of leading citizens of the ward will call on him this evening, and we want you to go along and help us persuade him to make the race."

"Well, you can count me out," replied Quigway. "I haven't any use for Clinker, and I think our institutions have come to a Dickens of a pass when such a man is even suggested for public office. Clinker is entirely lacking in moral character, and it will be an evil day for the people when he goes into office."

"You're talking through your turban, Quigway. Why, Clinker has a spotless record. You can't find a flaw in it anywhere."

"Well, that shows all you know, and if you elect Clinker I'll move out of this ward and stay out. I couldn't sleep at night if that man was in office."

"Two years ago I was looking around for a good, respectable family cow, the kind you read about in Sun-School books. I didn't know anything about cows, except that they gave milk under proper conditions, and we wanted real milk in our house. Clinker heard that I was in the market for a cow, and he came over to my place and told me he had the very animal I wanted. I had the utmost faith in him at that time and placed myself entirely in his hands. I told him candidly that I didn't know a cow from a canal boat, so far as practical information went, and asked him, as man to man, to give me a square deal."

"He placed his hand on his heart and swore by his grandmother's nutmeg grater that the cow he was offering for sale was perfectly refined and ladylike, and that she gave an abundance of real milk. So I took him at his word. Weatherwax, and counted out 50 large, gun metal dollars, which represented the savings of months. He brought the cow over and tied her in my shed, and in the evening I went forth with a beautiful new tin bucket and sat down to milk her. The next thing I knew I was standing on my shoulder blades, and that handsome new tin bucket was flattened against the roof of the shed. I never saw a cow as ambidextrous with her hind legs, and Clinker said she was so tame the children could play with her!"

"I went over to his place, my blood boiling with indignation, and he went back home with me and surveyed the scene of the uprising, and had the nerve to say that the cow kicked because I sat at her left side instead of her right side, when I began to milk! As though a cow cared for such technicalities! That's the sort of a man Clinker is. He's a sea lawyer, who would rather argue far-fetched points than be just and fair. I wanted him to take the cow back, but he wouldn't do it. The cow was just as he represented her, he said, and the fault was all mine. That's the way he'll conduct himself if he breaks into the council. He'll say the fault is with the people who elected him, if anything goes wrong."

"A week after I bought that cow she quit giving milk altogether. She didn't give any more milk than a lumber wagon, and Clinker had assured me that she would keep the family supplied for a year. I went to him and told the story, and he asked a lot of fool questions and then took refuge in technicalities again. He said the cow

GIVING BEDDING A SUN-BATH.

Simple Apparatus That Will Prove a Boon to the Woman Who is Crowded for Space.

One of the first things to consider if you would have sanitation in your home is proper airing of the bedclothing. With the best intentions in the world some housewives can not air their bedding properly because of lack of window space. For their benefit, an Illinois woman has devised the apparatus shown in the illustration. A pair of side bars with a crossbar at one end, have strips of canvas between them, thus forming a broad rack. There are rings at the open end of the frame and they slip over spikes in the corners of the window sill, while chains attached to the side bars near their outer ends are fastened on hooks above to suspend the sheet. On this broad surface a woman can pull the bedding and give it good sunning. This device is especially handy for apartments where the bedroom has only one window.

Spinning Sugar.

Boil one pound of lump sugar (and three-fourths of a cupful of water to 280 degrees Fahrenheit) add one dessertspoonful of lemon juice and continue to boil to 310 degrees Fahrenheit. Take pan quickly from fire and plunge it in cold water to prevent it boiling higher. Stand it on the range to prevent the syrup from cooling too quickly. Oil the handles of two wooden spoons. Take two forks, dip them in the syrup, allow the large drops to run off them. Wave backward and forward over the spoon, making long threads. Take the threads from the spoon. Lay them on the table and cut them into even lengths. These can then be twisted for ornamental confectionery or into baskets or vases to hold food or cream. A large piece of paper should be placed on the floor to catch the threads.

The Housekeeping Money.

Two navvies working on a job some distance away from their homes had been paid, and were sauntering down the main street of the village in which they were lodging. Passing the post office, a thought struck one of them, and he darted inside, to return with a slooping postal order in his hand.

"What," said the other, in some surprise, "do you go in for competitions, Bill?"

"Competitions?" queried Bill. "What do you mean?"

"Why, missing words, and that sort of thing," was the reply.

"Missing words? be blowed!" said Bill, indignantly. "Can't a fellow send in a bit of money home to his wife?"—London Tit-Bits.

Trout California Style.

Lay enough trout in a fish kettle for 12 persons; put on them two carrots and four onions sliced, two bay leaves, a little thyme and parsley, a few cloves, salt and pepper to taste, a bottle of white wine and a quart of water; boil for 10 minutes; remove to back of stove and keep nearly boiling for about half an hour, according to the size of the trout; strain off half the liquor and put it into another sauce pan; stir the liquid to boiling point; let it boil until it is reduced to half a pint; add a little brown sauce, gradually stir into it half a pound of good butter cut in small bits; finish the sauce with the juice of four lemons and a spoonful of chopped parsley. At serving time drain the fish, place them on a long dish, the bottom of which is covered with a napkin; garnish all round with parsley; serve the sauce separately.

Current Fritters.

Two cups dry, fine bread crumbs, two tablespoons of prepared flour, washed and well dried, five eggs, whipped very light; half cup powdered sugar, one tablespoon butter, half teaspoon mixed cinnamon and nutmeg. Boil the milk and pour over the bread; mix and put in the butter; let it get cold; beat in next the yolks and sugar, the seasoning, flour and stiff whites; finally, the currents dredged with flour. The batter should be thick. Drop in great spoonful into the hot lard and fry; drain them and send hot to table. Eat with a mixture of wine and powdered sugar.

Peach Delight.

Peel and split ripe peaches and fill a baking dish, sprinkling each layer of fruit with sugar. Dot the top with butter, add a cupful of water and sprinkle with flour. Make a crust of one and a half cups of flour sifted with a little salt and a teaspoonful of baking powder, rubbing into the flour ten half a cupful of lard and adding ice water to mix. Cover the peaches with a thin sheet of the dough, slit the crust and serve hot with fresh cream.

To Keep Buttons Fast.

To sew buttons so that they will not easily come off hold a pin across the top of the button and sew on in the usual way over the pin. Before fastening the thread, remove the pin and pull out the button as far as the thread will allow, wind the thread several times around the stitches in back and fasten.

Mashed Brown Potatoes.

Two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes add a little pepper and salt and one-third of a cupful of fat. Mix and cook three minutes, stirring constantly. Pack and allow to brown underneath. Fold and serve on a hot plate.

Crisp Pie Crust.

Use milk instead of water for mixing the crust. This 1, 2, 3, rule may be kept for one pie: 1 cup flour, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons milk.

FINEST OF PRESERVES

HOW PROPERLY TO PREPARE STRAWBERRY BAR LE DUC.

Strong Sunshine, Hot Platters, Plenty of Window Glass, and Perfect Fruit Are Required—Recipe for Orange Custard Fritters.

Strawberry Bar Le Duc—Three things are indispensable in making this finest of preserves. The first is strong, steady sunshine, the second hot platters or plates, the third plenty of window glass. The fruit should be perfect and of good flavor, the sugar pure. To every pound of fruit allow a pound of sugar. Heat the sugar on tin plates in the oven, taking care not to let it melt or get too brown. It should, however, be as hot as possible without melting. Have in readiness hot platters or deep plates. Spread a thin layer of hot sugar over the bottom, then a layer of fruit, and lastly another layer of sugar. Cover the platter with a sheet of window glass and place out of doors in the hot sun or in a sunny window in an unused room. If the fruit is out of doors it must be brought in when the sun sets and set in a dry place in the house over night. Return to the sun in the morning. In two or three days the fruit will grow plump and firm and the syrup almost a jelly. Pack in tumbler and seal. If the syrup is not thick, boil until clear and thickened, then pour in the glasses over the fruit. Some good cooks in this part of the country prefer to cook fruit and sugar for ten minutes before spreading on the platter. This of course hastens the preserving process in the sun.

Orange Custard Fritters.—Break two and a half eggs into a steaming bowl with half a pound of flour; mix and pour in by degrees one pint of milk, and stir over the fire for 20 minutes, when the custard should have become smooth; take it off the fire and add two ounces of castor sugar, one-half ounce of grated orange peel, three yolks of eggs and a pinch of salt. Mix these well together and spread the custard to a one inch thickness on a slightly buttered baking sheet. When cold cut it into two pieces two inches by one inch; dip the pieces in egg and bread crumbs and fry them in very hot fat until slightly colored. Drain, sprinkle and sugar and pile on a fancy paper in dish and serve.

CHILDREN'S SCALP TROUBLES

Children are subject to many kinds of scalp troubles, such as scales, sores, scabs, ringworm, etc. If neglected, they spread and develop into serious diseases. Scratching aggravates the trouble and increases the danger of infection by other children. Cadum, the new remedy, stops the itching at once and begins healing with the first application. Its prompt use in any scalp trouble will save much suffering and anxiety. Cadum is good for any sore or eruption on the face or body. Of all druggists, 10, & 25c. per box.

A 15 PER CENT CUT IN EXPRESS RATES

Interstate Commerce Commission Makes Exhaustive Report.—Aim is To Help Purchasers Direct From Producers

WASHINGTON, July 15—Reductions in express rates averaging about 15 per cent, drastic reforms in regulations and practices, and comprehensive changes in the methods of operation, are prescribed in a report made public today by the interstate commerce commission of its investigation into the business of the 13 great express companies of the United States.

Dealing with the identity of interest between the various companies, the report finds that while those companies are separate legal entities, it is of interest to regard the fact that by stock ownership and otherwise they are so interlarded, intertwined and interlocked that it is with difficulty we can trace any one of the greater companies as either wholly independent in its management or the agency of a single railroad system. So that while these companies operate separately and compete with each other for traffic, the express business may be said to be almost a family affair. An interesting genealogical tree, in fact, might be drawn showing a common ancestry in all of the larger companies. And while many names may be used to designate these companies, it is within the fact to say that aside from the operations of the minor and distinctively railroad express companies, the express business of the United States is managed by not more than three groups of interests.

In Progress Three Years.

The inquiry was the most extensive and, in wealth of detail, probably the most thorough, ever prosecuted by the commission. It was conducted and the report was prepared by Commissioner Franklin K. Lane. It has been in progress for nearly three years. The report itself makes 609 printed pages. It involved an examination and comparison of practically more than 600,000,000 express rates in effect in this country, in addition to an examination of millions of waybills and an investigation, through the books of the companies, of their financial operations and business methods.

Trying Out Motor Boats

The navy department has purchased a 60-foot motor boat from the Herreshoff Company for the use of one of the divisions of the Atlantic fleet. It will be tried out to ascertain whether it is advisable to again adopt this type of boat in connection with the fleet. There has been much criticism of motor boats on account of the alleged unreliability of the engine, the difficulty of keeping them in repair, and the fact that they were not sufficiently strong in the hull.

There has been, on the other hand, a great desire to possess these motor boats as being of "smart" appearance and faster than the ordinary boats.—Army and Navy Register.

Going to the Wyoming

A great number of the crew of the U. S. S. Washington will go to the U. S. S. Wyoming.

Sixty Marines for the Station

Thirty of the marine guard of the Washington were transferred to the yard barracks. Thirty more arrived from Norfolk on Sunday. The detachment was divided between the barracks, Southey and naval prison.

Find Quicksand at Pearl Harbor

Owing to the discovery of quicksand at Pearl Harbor, where the government is building the large dry dock, the navy has found it necessary to increase the cost from $2,500,000 to $3,450,000. The recommendation for the increase was made by the chief of the bureau of yards and docks and upon the showing made was incorporated in the naval bill and is now a matter of conference between the Senate and the House.

THE IDEAL PLACE

The Rock Sound Islands the Place to Pass Your Vacation

There is no better place to pass your vacation than at the Isles of Shoals. The trip to the islands, ten miles off the mainland, is a most enjoyable one. During the recent hot spell, when everyone was sweltering on the land, the highest point of the temperature at the islands reached was only 71. Besides being a cool spot, free from mosquitoes and other pests, there is excellent deep sea fishing and boating. What more do you want?
